CELEBRATION IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Speakers at Independence Day Observance Emphasize Need of Loyalty to Nation.

CONCERTS BY SEYMOUR BAND

Big Crowd of Local People and Visitors Enjoy Programs at Shields Park.

The Independence Day celebration at Shields Park Thursday, which was given under the auspices of the four local Railway Brotherhoods, was a great success. The park was crowded throughout the day, and the shelter house was packed to its capacity for the several sessions at which interesting programs were given. The speakers emphasized the important position held by the United States in the world war and the high ideals for which the allies are fighting. The necessity of every American citizen supporting the war in every possible way was strongly urged by the speakers.

The committee having charge of the decorations of the shelter house and the grounds deserves great credit for the attractiveness of the park. The shelter house was decorated with American flags and was lighted with red, white and blue globes. The two service flags which were dedicated at the afternoon meeting had prominent places at the front of the building.

Featuring the day's program were the excellent entertainments by the Seymour Concert Band. Many comments were heard upon the numbers furnished by the local musical organization and the work of the band added much to the patriotic fervor of the day's celebration. Whenever the band mounted the band stand the big crowd would assemble around it and hearty encores were given to each selection.

The program of the day was inaugurated with the parade which moved promptly at 9:45 o'clock from the Masonic Temple. The parade was headed by the Seymour Concert Band. Immediately upon arrival at the park, C. W. Burkart, mayor, delivered a welcome address in which he stated that the city appreciated the activities of the brotherhoods and hoped that the visitors would feel at home while in this city.

Mayor Burkart was followed by Miss Katherine B. Jackson, who spoke for almost an hour upon the work of the Red Cross Society. In her introductory remarks she emphasized that America is not fighting for territorial aggrandizement or national conquest, but is waging war for the highest principles of humanity and civilization. She explained at some length just what the Red Cross workers are doing and pointed out that the Red Cross is the largest organization in the war with the exception of the army itself. She spoke of the splendid executive and administrative work that it is doing and the wonderful things that it has achieved in this country and abroad. She gave several illustrations of the effective work of the Red Cross, which because of its magnitude, could not be handled except by that organization which is composed of trained and efficient workers. System has made the Red Cross a success, she declared.

Miss Jackson recalled that General Pershing had stated that the Red Cross was the greatest organization for reconstructive work in all the world. She asked that the people of America give the organization their support and co-operation so that it may continue to carry on the great work which it has undertaken.

T. M. Honan, president of the Jackson County Red Cross Chapter, also made an eloquent and patriotic appeal for the organization. He mentioned briefly what the local chapter has accomplished and emphasized the important place of the American organization in the world struggle. He urged loyalty to the American flag and the principles for which it stands and declared that with the united co-operation of the people of this country Germany and her brutal ideals will be completely crushed and in their place will rise the higher and the holier principles

REPAIR OF LIGHT PLANT IN SIGHT

Only Partial Electric Service Will be Given the First Part of Next Week.

POWER CONSERVATION ASKED

Interstate Officials Believe Improvements Will Bring Much Needed Relief.

After months of inadequate electric light and power service, due to the condition of the local plant, relief is in sight. However, the plant cannot be put in first class shape without a curtailment of the service for two or three days next week. But the majority of patrons are willing to use the current sparingly for that period if steady service can be maintained in the future. According to the present plans the work on the old boilers will begin at midnight Saturday and will continue Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It is thought that they can be put in better condition at the close of that period. However, a day or so longer may be required, but that cannot be determined until the repairs have been started.

The work that is planned at the local plant is due to the efforts of a local committee which has been striving to get needed relief for this city for more than a year. The work was postponed from time to time until the plant was in a state of collapse and the matter was then put before the Indiana Public Service Commission by John M. Lewis, city attorney, and N. Kaufman, president of the local commercial club. They supported their claims by data and figures and as a result the commission sent one of its engineers here to inspect the plant and to arrange for the improvements.

It is reported that one of the smoke stacks at the plant almost tumbled over yesterday, but that workmen who were brought to this city were able to put a band around it and later wired it more securely. It is reported that the stacks were weakened during the recent breakdown when the boilers were operated beyond their capacity.

A number of local manufacturers who are heavy users of power have agreed to curtail the use of power machine on Monday and Tuesday so there will not be a complete shutdown of all plants in the city. Patrons are asked to refrain from using electrically driven motors and electric heaters on those two days so that all the current possible may be conserved.

REPAIRS WILL BE ASKED IF ROADS ARE NOT BUILT

Final Decision May be Reached Soon by Special Committee on Construction.

Nothing further relative to the building of the three concrete roads in this township can be done until the special committee on construction of the Indiana state council of defense files its report. The matter was referred to this committee Wednesday afternoon, following the meeting which was arranged at the office of the state council of defense.

Local men who have given considerable attention to the road question, however, do not have much hope that the roads will be ordered built at this time. The state council of defense once gave its sanction of these same roads, but at the meeting Wednesday intimated that they are not of a military necessity.

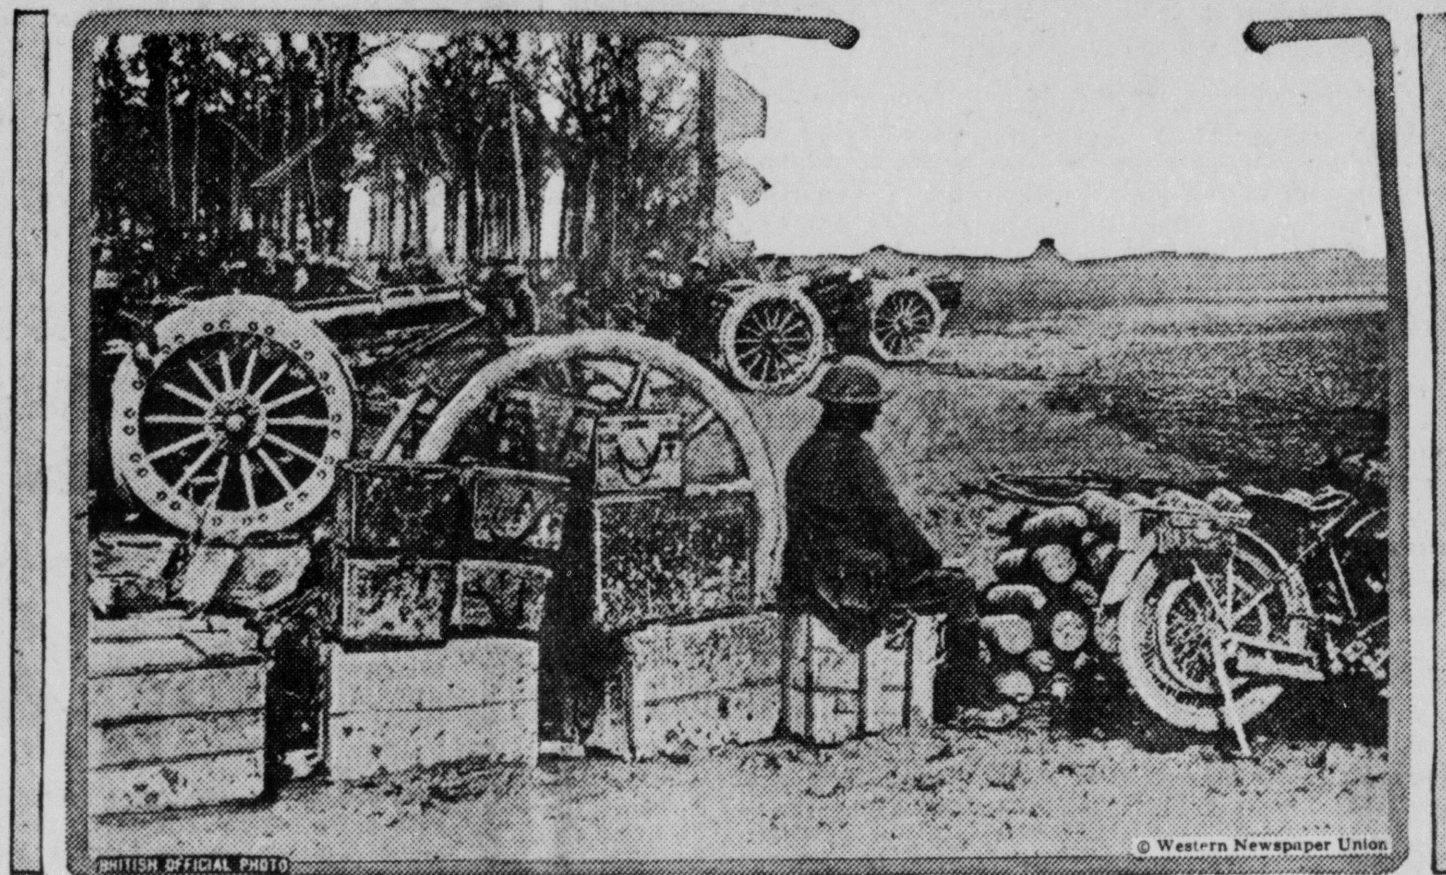

If the roads are not built now, an effort will be made to have them repaired without delay. They are almost impassable and when the dust is heavy vehicles are almost unable to leave the deep ruts. Just what disposition will be made of the money derived from the sale of the bonds will be determined later.

Notice! Notice!

Three days will be allowed party who picked up registered mail package Wednesday, to return same to General Delivery window at postoffice without further question. After that time party will be subject to prosecution under United States Postal Laws.

CLAIMS DUE UNDER WAR RISK POLICY

Information Asked Relative to First Local Settlement Under New Insurance.

CARRIED BY VELMA E. SAGE

Three Half-Brothers and Two Half-Sisters to Share in Principal, Paid Monthly.

Information relative to the settlement of the first claim in Jackson county under the war risk insurance has been made of F. W. Wesner, local attorney, who represents the beneficiaries of the late Velma E. Sage, of Crothersville, who died at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., in March. He carried $10,000 insurance with the government. His father and mother are dead and under the Indiana law his half brothers and sisters are his next kin and will receive the money from the government.

Many questions are asked by the government in connection with the final settlement of the claim. The face of the policy carried by Private Sage was $10,000 but as this is interest bearing its amounts in reality to $13,800. Instead of being made in a lump sum, the insurance comes in monthly installments.

Mr. Wesner has figured the payments and finds that Sage's three half brothers and two half sisters, will receive $11.50 each per month for a period of twenty years. Before the first checks are issued by the war risk insurance policy, however, the status of the beneficiaries must be proved and Indiana law must be cited to show that the half brothers and sisters are entitled to the money. Mr. Wesner has filed the papers which were forwarded to him, as representative for the heirs, and expects that the first checks will be issued shortly.

This is the first claim that has been taken up under this insurance in Jackson county. The insurance is carried by the men in the service and covers complete disability or death in which case the insurance is paid monthly the same as a pension. The insurance takes the place of the pension which was granted to the civil war veterans.

An unusual feature of the settlement in the hands of the local attorney is that one set of children did not know they had a half brother by the name of Sage and that he was in the service. Sage's mother was married three times. She died about a year ago soon after Velma entered the service.

Mr. Wesner said that after he was employed to represent the heirs he found that there were three sets of children and that two of the half brothers apparently did not know that Velma was a member of their family.

EXCESS PROFITS RANGED AS HIGH AS 2,183 PERCENT

Treasury Department Files Statement in Answer to Borah Resolution.

By United Press.

Washington, July 5—Excess profits as high as 2,183 percent, were made on some businesses in 1917, a treasury department report submitted to the senate to-day, showed. The report is a partial answer to the Borah resolution asking data on profiteering. The 2,183 percent example was that of a food dealer. A little man with a capital stock of $5,000 had an excess profit of $1,200 percent. Another little man with a $100,000 capital made 152 percent. A coal storage concern capitalized at $10,000 exceeded its 1916 profits by 472 percent.

In the dairy business, excess profits ranged as high as 182 percent; banking up to 82 percent contracting to 596 percent, clothing manufacturing 191 percent.

A flour mill with $90,000 capital showed an excess profit of 236 percent. Another capitalized at $25,000 made an excess of 437 percent. A meat packer made 204 percent.

On $10,000 capital, a soft coal mining concern made 504 percent, excess. A retail coal concern showed 80 percent on a $1,250,000, 000 capital.

RUSSIA AT WAR WITH GERMANY, KERENSKY SAYS

Faction He Represents Will Try to Reestablish an "Eastern Front."

By United Press.

London, July 5—Alexander Kerensky, former Russian premier, and the faction he represents, still regard Russia as at war with Germany and will do everything in their power to reestablish an "eastern front." This declaration was made today by Dr. David Soskice, Kerensky's private secretary. It may be regarded as the most authoritative expression of Kerensky's ideas.

"Kerensky denies the right of the Bolshevik upsurers as the voice of Russia," he said. "That belong only to the constituent assembly, which has repudiated the Bolshevik regime and the separate peace negotiations of the Bolsheviks."

SOCIALISTS MAKE BOLDEST STROKE

Philip Schiedemann, Majority Leader Presents New Obstacle to Military Leaders.

ARMISTICE IS SUGGESTED

Huns Want Agreement About Bombing Towns Outside of War Zone.

By United Press.

Amsterdam, July 5—Philip Schiedemann, a socialist leader, replying to criticism of the socialists' opposition to government measures in the reichstag, declared that he would co-operate with the government, only if the peace question is clarified. He said the great military victory by itself would never bring peace, and advocated an armistice.

His action was regarded as important, as it was the first time during the war that the majority socialists have refused to vote the government budget. It is bound to produce a far-reaching effect on the German people.

"The exasperation of the masses has reached its highest pitch," declared Schiedemann. "There is only one cry, 'end the war,' but with honor." Schiedemann charged that the German press had been officially instructed how to comment on the utterances of Foreign Minister Kuehlmann.

In a recent visit to the Hague, Schiedemann declared the German socialists will not support the government until it makes a reasonable step towards peace.

Reports here to-day declared that Germany is considering a proposal to the allies that an agreement be reached regarding the bombing of towns outside of the war zone. Favor of such a move is said to be strong in Germany.

COOPERATION BY AMERICANS

German Counter Attacks Against Yankees and Australians Repulsed, Haig Reports.

By United Press.

London, July 5—A German counter attack on Hamel, captured by Australians and American troops yesterday morning, was repulsed last night, Feld Marshal Haig reported today.

"Prisoners taken in yesterday's advance along the Somme now exceed 1,300," the statement said. "A German field gun, one hundred machine guns and a number of trench mortars were captured. Ten German air planes were accounted for by British airmen Wednesday. Sixteen tons of bombs were dropped on enemy targets."

The Germans attempted a small raid against an American sector. The enemy was severely punished. A captured officer said eight were killed. Between Toul and the lower Alsace sector the American positions were quiet.

Three German airplanes were shot down in two aerial battles which took place this morning on the American front along the Marne.

Two American airmen are missing. Four American and six German machines participated in each fight. The first occurred north of Balleau Wood. One boche was brought down and two Americans failed to return to our lines.

The second fight was north of Chateau-Thierry. Two aviators reported they believed they brought down one boche each.

A small American raid last night resulted in securing some prisoners and valuable information from prisoners.

ROUMANIAN PEACE TREATY IS RATIFIED

German Junker Crowd Has Scored Another Victory Over Progressives.

By United Press.

Amsterdam, July 5—The German reichstag has approved the Roumanian peace treaty, according to a Berlin dispatch received today.

Foreign Minister Kuehlmann formally announced that Germany does not intend to start a campaign to invade India. This is a victory for the German junkers as the socialists and other progressives bitterly opposed it on the ground that some of the terms were too severe.

TAXING PUBLIC PATIENCE.

(Indianapolis News)

There has been more or less complaint with the United States mail service and there will be still more, now that the zone system of newspaper and magazine postal charges has gone into effect. The public should not blame the mail carriers and the postoffice forces for unusual delays because these men are simply charged with carrying out the provisions of regulations that they did not help to make. Congress made the law and so far the delectable Mr. Kitchin and other members continue to stand against any movement to correct what time shortly will show were manifest blunders.

The new law provides that a certain postal rate must be paid on that part of a publication devoted to advertising and another rate for reading matter. Different rates also are provided for different zones. This means that every publication office must mark and measure the reading matter and the advertising in each separate edition for each separate zone. It means, further, that every postoffice—where a newspaper or magazine is printed—must also assign clerks to the same job and work out the postal charges. This can not be done once and the task be finished. It must be done every time an edition is printed and mailed.

What the War Moves Mean

(By J. W. T. Mason)
Written for the United Press

New York, July 5—A decline in the morale of the German troops is strongly suggested by the large numbers of prisoners that are falling into the hands of the Allies as the result of minor operations.

The French captured more than 1,600 prisoners in last night's attack east of Compiègne, the Americans took more than 500 prisoners at Vaux, and the British captured over 400 Germans a week ago east of Nieppe forest. In addition there have been a number of very recent bags of 100 to 200 captives. It is now usual, in fact, for the allies to pick up prisoners almost at will.

The Germans are showing less powers of resistance by these surrenders than at any time since Von Hindenburg's spring offensive began. This does not mean that General Foch would be justified at the present moment in engaging in a major offensive before America is fully prepared to participate. The growing tendency to cry "Kameroid" on the part of the Germans however, is a good augury for the future. It indicates that in defensive warfare, the new units of Hindenburg's army are not standing up with the same stubbornness as did the older divisions.

War weariness seems to be creeping into the German ranks. This would be a mutual result of the failure of Von Hindenburg to gain any decisive objective following the ferocious exposure of his troops to slaughter. Von Kuehlmann's recent utterance that peace cannot be won on the battlefield may very well also be responsible for the decline in the German morale. The surrender of Germans by the hundreds in local operations means beyond all doubt that once the allies begin their own offensive on a major scale, the German capitulations will grow to an unprecedented scale. It has always been the belief of students of German psychology that once the German army become convinced it could not win the war, its fighting efficiency would sink under the despondency in defensive combats. There is reason to believe the army has begun to suspect Von Hindenburg's failure.

There has been a severe shortage of postoffice help and those remaining at work have been overtaxed with duties. Now they are forced to take up something new and that is especially intricate and in some instances almost impossible of interpretation. The newspapers and periodicals have not sought to shirk their duty in any way. They have offered, repeatedly, to pay a flat rate of increase, provided that some one in authority would determine what the rate should be. They have already for a year been paying a tax on newspaper bundles in addition to the postal rates. The fundamental underlying question is whether the government should encourage or discourage the reading habit.

The public is constantly urged to write to soldiers abroad and to send the home news. One of the easiest ways to keep the boys informed on home doings is to send the home paper. Thousands of letters have been received testifying to the truth of this assertion. The home paper gives far more than a letter can give. Yet among the oppressive features of the new postal law is the requirement that newspapers sent to soldiers in the battle lines shall be paid for at the eighth zone rate. That is to say, all the reading matter in these newspapers will be charged for at a rate 25 per cent higher than formerly, and all the advertising matter will be charged for at a rate three or four times as high as the rate heretofore charged. It would, of course, be impossible to clip away the advertising matter from every paper destined for a soldier overseas. And besides advertising matter is in a sense news and necessary to a complete newspaper. As advertising matter and news can not be

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson I. July 7

Beginning the Christian Life

Acts 16: 18-34

Golden Text—Whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely. Revelation 22: 17.

DEVOTIONAL READING—John 15:4-16. ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FOR TEACHERS—Acts 2:37-47; 8:26-40; Romans 5:1-11.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Loving and trusting Jesus—John 1:35-51.

MEMORY VERSE—We love because he first loved us.—1 John 4:19.

I. How Lydia Began the Christian Life (vv. 13-15).

Lydia was the first convert to Christ in Europe. Hers was a typical conversion. Note the steps therein:

1. Attendance at the place of prayer (v. 13).

The accustomed place here was at the river side. The accustomed place today is in church. God can and does save men and women without any seeming connection with places of established worship, but he appears to most people at such places. The very fact that he has established and sustains churches here and there is an urgent call to all men and women to place themselves in the way of salvation. While no one can save himself, yet all can put themselves in the way of salvation by attending church, reading the Bible, etc.

2. Listening to the preaching of the Word of God (vv. 13, 14).

Paul took advantage of the opportunity which was given him by the assemblage of this group of devoted women to preach Christ to them. He was alert for and prized highly the opportunity to tell the people about Christ. He knew also how perilous it was to neglect to witness for Christ at a time when unsaved people are together. The opportunity is God's call to preach Christ.

3. Her heart was opened by the Lord (v. 14).

The individual may place himself in the way of salvation by coming near to the means of grace, and the preacher may preach the Word of God, but there is no hope of salvation until the heart is opened by the Lord (John 6:44, 45). While the salvation of every one is dependent upon this sovereign act of the Lord, yet we can be sure that he is willing at all times to do this for those who, like Lydia, place themselves in the way of his saving grace.

4. She was baptized. (v. 15).

This ordinance follows belief in Christ. The invariable rule in the early church was for believers to be baptized. While there is no salvation in the water of baptism, yet hearty obedience should be rendered in this respect (Acts 2:38-41; 8:12; Mark 16:16). Lydia brought her household to Christ. This is as it should be. She showed signs of the new life, in that she expressed gratitude toward those who had been instrumental in her conversion (v. 15) by constraining them to share the hospitality of her home.

II. How the Philippian Jailer Began the Christian Life (vv. 25-34).

1. The occasion (vv. 25, 26).

The casting out of the spirit of divination from the damsel landed Paul and Silas in prison. The pain of bleeding backs, and of feet in stocks, kept them from sleeping; but not from praying and singing. The Lord heard their prayers and sent an earthquake which shook the jail, opened the doors of the prison, and loosed the bonds from the prisoners' hands.

2. The method (vv. 27-34).

(1) Visitation of the supernatural (vv. 27-29). The jailer was awakened from his sleep by the earthquake. This earthquake was unusual in that it loosed the bonds from the prisoners' hands. In his desperation the jailer was about to commit suicide. This was averted by Paul's assurance that all were safe. The fact that the doors were opened and the prisoners free and yet no one escaped, showed him that something unusual had occurred. Therefore, he came trembling and prostrated himself before Paul and Silas.

(2) The great question (v. 30). In the presence of the supernatural he cried out, "What must I do to be saved?" One's salvation is not far off when he utters this cry with sincerity.

(3) The vital answer (vv. 31, 32).

"Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ," is the only way to be saved. (Acts 4:12). Though the way of salvation is restricted, it is simple and easy. No one who has believed on Christ has failed to receive it. The jailer's faith was not blind faith, for they spoke unto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house. They were taught the meaning of belief in Christ.

(4) The evidence of a transformed life (vv. 33, 34).

(a) He was baptized (v. 33). As soon as one believes on Christ he wants to be baptized.

(b) He tenderly washed the stripes of Paul and Silas, showing that he was no longer the brutal jailer (v. 34).

(c) He rejoiced (v. 34). The one who really accepts Christ is filled with joy.

(d) A transformed home (v. 34). He believed on Christ and was baptized, and his household.

Our Boys in France and Home Protection

The men on the firing line represent the pick of our American youth. One in four of our boys at home was sick, rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that we should drink plenty of water daily between meals. Then procure at the nearest drug store, Anuric (double strength). The cost is 60c. This "An-uric" drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month.

Send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package.

LEWIS, IND.—"For a long time I suffered from backache, pain in left side, frequent kidney excretion, bothering me at all times during the day and night, and the uric acid in my blood caused me to suffer from rheumatism along with a constant tired, worn-out feeling. I heard of Anuric and at once began its use. After giving it a good trial I believe it to be the best kidney remedy on the market to-day. I have tried other kidney medicines, but these Anuric Tablets of Dr. Pierce's are the only ones, in my opinion, that will cure kidney and bladder troubles."—HENRY A. LOVE.

separated, the government's new rate makes it oppressively expensive either to the publisher or to the subscriber to send newspapers to soldiers. The postage alone for a year would be in the neighborhood of $3 to $4 for the first year. The government's theory has been that the soldiers should be supplied with reading matter, and the old law recognized this theory. But the new law recognizes nothing that is well established in patriotism, common sense or sound economics. It is a disorganizing influence that has disturbed not only every newspaper in the country, but practically every post-office as well.

Illinois Lady Says Cardui Wrought Great Change in Her Health.

Paris, Ill.—Miss Lydia Arbogast, of this place, writes: "When I was 16 years old . . . I was small, very small for my age. I had a bad color—had the sick headache all the time. Just dragging through school . . . I didn't feel like going to school and my mother and I were worried about myself, for I felt I couldn't stand that condition longer. Hardly cared to live.

After taking a few bottles of Cardui, I saw a great change in my health . . . my color fine and I began to grow . . . I got well and strong. I was a different girl and have been ever since. I give Cardui all the praise, and had there not been a change in me when I first began Cardui, I couldn't have lived . . . The headache gradually disappeared as my health was built up and life became worth living."

CELEBRATION IS A GREAT SUCCESS

of Democracy, Liberty and Self Government.

At the morning session solos were sung by Mrs. J. H. Andrews and H. G. Stratton and both were highly appreciated and merited the rounds of applause which they received.

The afternoon session was also largely attended, the shelter house being too small to accommodate all who desired to have places under the roof. James Gabriel, of Cincinnati, a former resident of this city, presided at the meeting.

"Simply because there is a Supreme Being guiding the destinies of the Kaiser will never be spread throughout the world," declared Hon. Frank T. Hawley, chairman of the Bureau of Labor, of the Federal Food Administration of Indiana, in a stirring address at the Shields Park, Thursday afternoon. Further declaring that the outcome of the war depended on the patriotism of the labor classes of the world, in which the four railroad brotherhoods are included, Mr. Hawley, spoke to an audience of several hundreds of people relative the various war questions of the day.

The speaker impressed the numerous railroad employees and their guests of the afternoon, with the conditions of the world if the allies should fail in this supreme struggle. "German militarism," he said "would be sent to the four corners of the earth, that freedom which has been ours since the first Independence Day, would be lost forever, and no more would we gather together on July the Fourth, for great patriotic celebrations."

To bring it about that such conditions shall never exist, he further stated, we, as citizens of the United States must prove ourselves as good soldiers as the men who are fighting in the trenches. We must economize in every possible manner, save nations today, the government of the Kaiser will never be spread throughout the world," declared Hon. Frank T. Hawley, chairman of the Bureau of Labor, of the Federal Food Administration of Indiana, in a stirring address at the Shields Park, Thursday afternoon. Further declaring that the outcome of the war depended on the patriotism of the labor classes of the world, in which the four railroad brotherhoods are included, Mr. Hawley, spoke to an audience of several hundreds of people relative the various war questions of the day.

Mr. Hawley, whose work carries him to all parts of the state in connection with the Food Administration of Indiana, has been called upon to settle numerous cases of profiteering, and of this he spoke at the meeting Thursday afternoon. He urged the members of the four railroad brotherhoods to immediately report such cases of profiteering as they may have knowledge of to the proper authorities, so that the work may be immediately checked. Mr. Hawley made it clear that people who hoard flour and sugar, which were purchased previous to the restriction for the products by the Federal Food Administration, are carrying on a game of profiteering, equal to the people who charge exorbitant prices on essential products. Sugar and flour hoarded in this manner, have been confiscated in every case, the speaker said, and will continue to be until the ban is raised.

The speaker traced the history of the United States from the Revolutionary period to the present time, relating the attitude of the government in preparing for war. The close of each war period in which the States have had a part, was followed up by a lull in the growth of the army and navy, simply because, the speaker declared, "we never prepared in time of peace, for war." But only three times in the history of the world have all nations been at peace; the first occasion being between the first and second Punic wars; the second at the time of Christ and the third at the inauguration of President Woodrow Wilson. For this reason, Mr. Hawley stated, preparations for war should go on at all times, so that when war comes we may be ready to take our part.

Another stirring address of the afternoon was made by Judge J. A. Cox of Crothersville, at which time the service flags for the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers were dedicated. The service flags, which together number more than fifty stars, were hung over the platform and to these Judge Cox referred throughout his talk, calling attention to the noble response of the Brotherhoods, in the call of the country. The one flag bearing a gold star in commemoration of a member of the Brotherhood who lost his life when an American battleship was sunk, the speaker called especial attention to, stating the elements of honor, bravery and nobility which such a star especially represents.

In the course of this address, the speaker emphasized the reasons why we as a nation are at war today and the reasons for the ready response of the men, at the call to arms. Because freedom has reigned throughout the life of the nation this freedom which was begun, when the men of England presented to the king, the magna charta, laying down their claims as citizens of a government, we will not loose in this great battle today. The Pilgrim fathers aid the first stones to the foundation of our present day democracy, when they left their home shores and sought the new America where they might live, and worship according to the dictates of their hearts.

Judge Cox continued to trace the history of each of the wars affecting the American people, pointing out that we took an active stand only when we sought honor and righteousness. "A nation so conceived and so dedicated shall stand as long as there is a red blooded American on the continent," he declared.

In conclusion, Judge Cox spoke of the American soldier and his love for his home and family while he is near the battle front. These soldiers think of the home where they enjoyed freedom and where they will enjoy freedom when they return. Knowing this the men and women who remain at home are stirred with patriotism and "patriotism," declared the speaker "is the greatest right of man. Patriotism not as a passion which makes us assail our faith in our government during the time of war, but a patriotism which fills our hearts with an inspiration to action in times of peace as well as war."

The Seymour band furnished the music at the meeting and included in the program for the afternoon session was a vocal solo by Mr. Ralph Martin, a violin solo by Miss Frieda Aufderheide and the singing of "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner" by the audience. Rev. L. T. Freeland offered prayer at the opening of the meeting.

The afternoon athletic events were watched by a large crowd. Donald Ross was awarded the winner of the sack race.

The evening session was also largely attended, many people standing around the shelter house. The Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the Christian church, pronounced the invocation and benediction. N. R. Martin sang a solo and the appreciation of the audience was shown by the generous encore. Oscar Shepard gave a splendid saxophone number which also merited the round of applause which was accorded the number.

"The Soul of America" was the subject of an intensely patriotic address which was delivered by the Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor of the First M. E. church. He dwelt at some length on the historical events in Germany all of which led up to the war and had a direct bearing on the world struggle. He pointed out in a convincing manner, supported by historical data, that Germany has been preparing for war for the last forty years and that the kaiser was waiting for the opportune time to strike when France, Italy, Russia and England were not prepared to defend themselves. He showed by historical facts that the kaiser for forty years endeavored to emulate the great war kings of world history and lived in a dream of the time he would be recognized as the political ruler of the world.

He declared that the war cannot be won for civilization until the military hand of Germany is crushed; until the power that bombs cities of innocent people, destroyed hospitals; wrecks Red Cross hospitals and commits other fiendish crimes is overthrown and is punished. He said that this nation came into the world conflict at a time when the allies had about reached a point of exhaustion, and that if the United States had not struck when it did the war would have been over by this time with a military victory for the kaiser and his gang of brutal advisers. But the United States, he said, could never have permitted Germany to be victorious. If that had come about, he declared, it would have been a question of a few years until the shores of this country would have been invaded and this nation would have been compelled to suffer as Belgium and France have suffered during the last four years.

Mr. Whitman pointed out that within the last fourteen months the United States has conscripted, equipped, trained and transported more than a million soldiers abroad. This year this nation observed Independence Day by launching a hundred new boats which will be used in sending more men, more munitions and more food abroad. "If the United States can do all this in fourteen months," the speaker shouted, "tell me, my fellow countrymen, what can we do in twenty-four months?"

The speaker demanded loyalty of American citizens. "If men come to our shores for liberty and freedom and prosper and succeed under our institutions and then refuse to be loyal to our nation at this time there is but one thing that ought to be done—send them back where they belong," he said.

Mr. Whitman made a forceful comparison of the ideals for which Germany and the allies are fighting. The kaiser aimed only at territorial expansion and his war aims were based on greed and aggression, he said. The United States and our allies, he declared, are fighting for the preservation of a higher civilization and for christianity. The aims of the allies are founded on equality and love while those of the Teutonic allies are based on greed and oppression.

The speaker asserted that in his opinion foreign born residents of the United States should not be permitted to participate in the elections in this country until they have become naturalized and have pledged themselves to live according to American principles of government.

Uncle Sam will be arbiter when the day for settlement comes, the speaker declared. This country is the logical power to determine peace conditions, as we are not fighting for selfish ends but only to make the world safe for humanity. The speaker was interrupted many times during his address by resounding encores, showing that his remarks met with the approval of the audience.

Mr. and Mrs. U. E. Elrod and daughter, who have been the guests of friends here for a few days, returned to their home at Cincinnati this morning.

MRS. W. I. ROSS AWARDED PRIZES IN BREAD CONTEST

Twenty-four Loaves Entered and Sold at Auction for $28—Proceeds for the Red Cross.

The War Saving Stamp certificate offered for the best loaf of bread made partly of wheat substitutes flour was awarded to Mrs. W. I. Ross, South Chestnut street, following the decision of the judges, at the contest which was held at the Shields Park, yesterday. The prize was offered by the Seymour Food Club for the purpose of encouraging the use of substitute flour among local women.

The loaf of bread entered in the contest by Mrs. Ross was made of one half wheat flour and one half rice flour. Because of its texture color and grain it was named by the judges as being the prize loaf. The decision was made by Miss Alice Luckey, former Home Economics teacher of this city, Miss Agnes Cobb and Miss Josephine Fettig, teachers of Domestic Science at the Scottsburg and Crothersville high schools during the past year.

Twenty-four loaves of bread were entered in the contest and were later sold at auction, for the benefit of the local Red Cross chapter. The prize loaf of bread was purchased by Fred Able and brought a maximum price of five dollars. The remainder of the bread, together with cakes and cookies made of substitute flour, and exhibited at the booth sold for $28. The recipes were attached to each loaf of bread entered in the contest so that the percent of the substitute might be readily determined.

The committee in charge of the bread contest included, Mrs. E. P. Elsner, secretary of the Seymour Food Club, Mrs. John Buhner and Mrs. R. O. Mayes. Women who assisted the committee in arranging for the contest were Mrs. M. S. Blish, chairman of the local food club, Mrs. A. D. Cobb of Brownstown, president of the Jackson County Food Clubs, and Mrs. LeRoy Miller, secretary of the county clubs. A great deal of interest was manifested in the contest, which is directly under the supervision of the food clubs throughout the county. The work which the members are carrying on at all times is for the purpose of encouraging household economy, and to suggest various recipes by which the wheat substitutes may be used.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS LEARN TO SEE AT NIGHT

Heavy Trucks Are Driven Over Shell Pitted Ground Without Any Light.

(By Fred S. Ferguson, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

With the American Forces in Picardy, July 5—Is the warring portion of the human race becoming "cat-eyed?"

This question is raised by an American doctor in Picardy.

It must be, in his opinion. Practically all circulation—movements of troops, hauling of supplies and ammunition to the front—is at night. Automobiles, scurry over roads full of ruts, or shell holes dash around curves and through villages without the aid of a light of any description and regardless of the darkness.

Wagons are driven over even worse roads. Not a light can be shown. And yet, at the wheel of the automobile or guiding the team, is a man. A few months back, if he lived in a small town, he probably wouldn't leave the house on a dark night without a lantern. If he lived in a city he probably groped and stumbled along his own, familiar neighborhood street, if the corner light happened to be turned off. Now, in addition to driving an automobile or piloting a team without any light on the darkest night, he will walk down a village street which he has not seen more than once or twice and go straight to a billet he may never have seen in daylight.

Ask a man at the wheel of an automobile at the front on a dark night, and he will tell you he "can't see a thing."

But he must see, in the opinion of this American army doctor. He may think he doesn't see, but he is developing the same sense that enables the cat or other animals to get about in the night. Otherwise he couldn't keep the automobile on the road.

Morris Himler and J. M. Himler, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Himler, returned to Indianapolis last evening.

Ed Rotert of Camp Zachary Taylor, is spending a few days' furlough this American army doctor. He may

MANY HOOSIERS BUY WINTER'S COAL NOW

Full Administration Looks for Serious Shortage During Winter Months.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, July 5—Although hundreds of consumers in Indiana are laying in their supply of coal for next winter, prospects at the present time are that the coal situation in Indiana next winter will be more chaotic than last, according to views obtained from men in touch with the situation today.

Evans Woolen, state fuel administration, stated that the coal situation is most unpromising in Indiana and that only the very hardest work will prevent a serious shortage next winter.

Mines in the state, because of lack of men and lack of cars to transport the coal after mined, have been operating only about half time since March.

In many cases those consumers who have ordered their winter supply of coal, have not procured it yet.

in Terre Haute, Evansville and Muncie last year, may help the situation this winter if it grows extremely serious.

Mayor Bunch of Muncie, is planning to run his municipal pile again next winter and has several hundred tons on hand.

The general idea of the coal pile run by cities, however, was to give consumers coal at a reasonable price. It is agreed that if the regular dealers are unable to obtain coal, it will also be probable that the municipalities will be unable to procure the product.

Some definite ruling on the question of seizing coal enroute to some other city is expected shortly. Many cities suffered unduly last winter when coal destined from that city, was seized by municipal officers while enroute and never reached its destination.

Are Advertised Medicines Worthless?

There is no more reason to condemn all advertised medicines than there is to condemn all physicians or all druggists. Fakes there are in every profession and in every trade, but they do not last long. Take a medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the true test of its merit is the fact that for forty years it has been relieving women of America from the worst forms of female ailments, constantly growing in popularity and favor, until it is now recognized from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

WORLD WAR WILL BRING NEW EDUCATION

Vocational Training to be Emphasized in Reconstructing Period.

By United Press.

New York, July 5—A new education will be one of the products of the war, according to Prof. A. D. Dean, noted educator and author, member of the faculty of Teachers College, Columbia university.

"The war is exposing the usefulness or uselessness, from the direct service standpoint, of our school subjects. This world conflict is bringing out the solution of education to war. It comes to the schools as an opportunity to develop service to the State" said Prof. Dean today.

"Now we have extension courses in economical cooking for adult women as a war measure. Later we shall have it as a home measure. Now we are bringing adult women into the schools to receive instruction with the children. Later we shall do the same thing because it is the only sensible procedure under any and all conditions. Now we think in terms of re-education of disabled soldiers because of the immediate need of helping these honored men. Later we shall turn what we have learned to do for these men into better provisions for making self-supporting our crippled and blinded children who are now in dependent institutions being made still more dependent by the very nature of the poor apology for vocational-training which is given them. Now we have clearly before us the need for industrial education because the government is crying for workers. Later we shall see the need for industrial education because those who are to work in the industries need it.

"Out of this war we are going to have a new spirit and method in education."

WOMAN IS HIT BY STONE THROWN THROUGH WINDOW

Mrs. Tom Jones Cut on Face by Rock—Cause of the Accident is Unknown.

An unusual accident, the cause of which has not been determined, occurred about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Jones, corner Sixth street and Indianapolis avenue.

Mrs. Jones was seated by a window, which faces Sixth street, when a rock, crashed through the glass, striking her just below the eye, which rendered her unconscious for several moments. Other occupants of the house heard the crash and upon discovering the cause, immediately summoned physicians who gave the injured woman medical treatment.

An automobile, going west on Sixth street, was crossing the Pennsylvania railroad, just as the crash occurred, and the driver thinking that a stone had struck the headlights of his car, shattering the glass, stopped his machine. When he discovered that Mrs. Jones had been struck with a stone, he hastened to render what-

"All of my six brothers and sister, as well as myself, have suffered since childhood from stomach and liver trouble and bloating. I thought it ran in the family and that I could never be cured, but, thanks to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, since taking it nearly a year ago I have been enjoying the best of health and feel like a new person. I have no trouble from anything I eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ever assistance he could.

So far it has been impossible to determine the cause of the accident although a number of reasons have been suggested. It is probable that the stone, which crashed through the window was thrown by children playing in the neighborhood. It was at first suggested that the automobile, which was crossing the Pennsylvania tracks at the time may have hit the stone in such a way as to fling it through the window, but this is practically impossible since the machine was more than forty feet from the window, when the crash was heard. The stone entered the window at a point nearly seven feet above the level of the concrete street, and for this reason, the theory that it was flung by the automobile is hardly to be credited.

How to Solve the Problem

The matter of feeding a family of eight on an allowance of ten dollars a week introduces a problem which most of us would say was impossible to solve at the present time. Just now, when we should expect garden products to be put on the market and the matter of our living expenses a less difficult affair, we find that with the new varieties before us, the cost of living continues to soar. Just such a problem confronted a neighbor of mine several months ago and by managing first one way and another she contrived to set a fairly attractive table. But several weeks ago she declared she found the problem even more difficult than ever. The matter of cooking a wholesome, economical and attractive meal is a great big problem just now, but the matter of pleasing eight different appetites is even bigger.

So there came a time when this woman reached the state when she simply could not seem to manage her affairs to make "both ends meet," and with the canning season coming on, the expense was even greater than ever. "Just what is to be done, I don't know," she complained to me one afternoon when we were discussing our household problems, and much as I should have liked to help, I hadn't a suggestion to offer. We discussed the meat question especially for her husband, who is a hard-working man, felt that he must have meat at least twice a day. She has abolished serving meat at breakfast since the outbreak of the war, and as the Hoover card in her window indicated, she was also recognizing some entirely meatless days as well as wheatless.

Finally we decided on a plan which we thought might work very well. We would do it together, and together follow it up and study the results. We would write to the home economics department of the Ladies' Home Journal, the Good Housekeeping, Woman's Home Companion or any other current woman's magazine, explain our case and ask them to help us. Finally we penned the following letter:

"I have a table allowance of $10.00 a week with a family of eight to provide for. My husband is used to a meat diet, but with the present high cost of everything I find it almost impossible to provide the table as we have been accustomed without running over my allowance. Can you give me any suggestions which will enable me to keep within the amount I have to spend, yet set an attractive table and provide nutritious and wholesome food?"

In just a few days the answer reached us and was a practical suggestion from a college home economics instructor who said she believed she would be able to assist us with a suggestion or two. Her letter said:

"My Dear Mrs. —: Your problem is a difficult one, but I think I can help you to make your $10.00 allowance sufficient to provide for a family of eight.

"I suppose you already realize the value of economy in small things, and the wisdom of buying groceries, potatoes, apples, etc., in quantity. For desserts dried fruits are invaluable; most of them are inexpensive and are better cooked without sugar. For lunch and occasionally for dinner too, soups are both economical and satisfying. Cocoa is also to be recommended. It is a food as well as a drink, good for children at all times.

"As for the question of meat, which is the most difficult for most housewives to solve, I recommend that you study very carefully the cheaper cuts of meat to be had from your butcher. You will get abundant help from the butcher himself if you trouble to ask him. The trouble with most women is that they attempt the planning of their meals independent of suggestions from their grocers and butchers. If meat is to be omitted from the diet other foods containing like properties must be substituted. For such foods you will find ample recipes in substitute suggestions issued by the government. Write for them.

"You will probably want meats two or three times a week, however, and by buying the cheaper cuts, in the manner I suggested, and cooking them wisely you can have palatable dishes for very little. Meats cooked in a casserole are always delicious and to use left over meats in this way is ever practical. If you haven't a casserole, you can secure the same results by using an earthen baking dish covered by a heavy plate. The government will also supply you with bulletins on the preparation of meat if you will but ask for them."

Since receiving the answer we have been following her suggestions very carefully and have found a solution to our household problems. The visit to our butcher and grocer proved more than satisfactory and both of us were astonished at the practical advice they gave us in the matter of buying. Lately they have even gone so far as to call us on the telephone and recommend a certain article they may have on hand, which of course is economical and will make a palatable dish. Without their help we are not sure just what we would do for we have come to accept their suggestions without question. At last we have discovered that planning and cooking three meals a day for seven days each week, is much more of a pleasure than the gruesome task it once was.

DERBYSHIRE PUDDING.

Mix gradually 2 tablespoons flour with a pint of milk, boil till thick, and when cold, add 3 ounces of butter, beaten to a cream, ¼ pound of fine sugar, the rind of a lemon grated, the yolk of 5 and whites of 3 eggs and a little salt; mix all well together, put it in a dish lined round with paste and bake in a quick oven. This pudding is very nice cold.

MAKING JELLY

Jelly making is the most troublesome of all preserving processes. Too little or too much sugar will always spoil the jelly.

To tell just how much sugar should be used with each kind of juice, place a teaspoonful of juice in a glass and add 1 spoon of 95 per cent grain alcohol.

Shake the glass gently to mix, then pour slowly and watch how the pectin—that is the substance in fruits that makes them jelly—is precipitated. If the precipitation is in one lump, a cup of sugar may be used for each of juice. Should the precipitation be in several lumps the sugar should be three-fourths the amount of juice.

Should no precipitation be shown, the juice is not adapted to jelly making and should be mixed with apple or other juice rich in pectin.

LETTUCE ROLLS

Use the coarse outside leaves of lettuce and arrange them in the form of small cups for individual service. Fry one slice of minced onion in two tablespoonfuls of hot bacon fat, add to one cupful of soft bread crumbs and season to taste with salt and paprika. A very little minced ham or any kind of cold meat may also be added if desired. Moisten with either tomato juice, stock or gravy and be careful that the mixture is not too wet. Fill a heaping tablespoonful of the mixture into each cup, fold over the lettuce and tie up into neat rolls with string. Lay in a pan, pour in a very little water, adding a little onion juice. Remove the strings, transfer carefully to a hot chafing dish, pour over a little heated, diluted catsup, when no tomato has been used with the filling, and serve on rounds of hot toast.

SWEETMEAT PUDDING

Take one ounce of each of orange and lemon peel and citron; split them very thin; line a dish with puff paste; lay the peel at the bottom; mix the yolks of seven eggs with the whites of two eggs, adding five ounces of sugar; pour it over the sweetmeats; put it into an oven well heated and bake 30 minutes.

HAM MILANAISE

To make ham Milaise take one-fourth pound of cold-boiled ham, one-half pound of spaghetti, one-half pound of grated cheese, one medium-sized onion, one clove of garlic, one can of tomatoes, one bay leaf, one tablespoon of chopped parsley, salt and cayenne pepper to taste and two tablespoons of butter.

Melt the butter, add the chopped onion, ham and parsley. Stir well until brown, then pour in the tomatoes.

When this begins to boil add the bay leaf, the clove of garlic, minced very fine; salt and cayenne pepper.

Small Spots in the Sun

The parasols that find their place in the sun this summer do not include among them the luxurious affairs that used to flourish in pre-war times. There appears to be less variety than in past seasons and simplicity is a feature of the styles in this summer's sun-shades, but there is variety enough; the fad for hat and parasol to match helping out in this regard. By the very simple expedient of adding a border of ribbon or silk, matching the scarf or bow on a hat, to the edge of a plain parasol, the smart matched set is achieved. Sometimes a bag reinforces this pair making a set of three pieces.

Japan has sent over quite a number of small pretty parasols with short and novel handles that are interesting. Among these there are white silk parasols with sheer hand-painted medallions, as large as a saucer, set in about the edge. The medallions are apparently made of a strong silk muslin with flower designs, sometimes outlined by a tiny gold cord, painted on them. In another Japanese parasol the white silk covering is partially lined with a plaque of this painted muslin and the sun-light filtered through gives a lovely shadow picture. The parasol at the left of the picture is a Japanese model with bamboo frame, tan-colored silk covering printed in colored figures. The American sunshade at the right is practical and attractive, being in the best of all colors for real service. It is green with blue dots ringed with white.

There are some novelties in gingham plaids and in plain and plaid silks combined that seem to belong to youthful maids and are destined to rejoice the heart of the flapper. More irresistible than all others, the beautiful white linen-covered parasols, exquisitely hand-embroidered, prove that no new design can out-class them. Natural pongee embroidered in its own color, belongs in the same class and there are the usual bordered pongees, employing bands of vivid colors, all designed for the use of grown-ups.

Women Chauffeurs For War Dept.

Four of the passenger automobiles of the depot quartermaster's office, war department, are being driven by women, and their chiefs are satisfied with their work. "I love the work," says Mrs. Laura Torbet, who is shown taking a buss from one department to another.

When the tomatoes are cooked well add the cheese and cooked spaghetti. Let simmer for about thirty minutes and serve hot.

SALADS AND CROQUETS

To make tongue salad take one-third each of boiled or potted tongue, chopped potato and celery, with salt, pepper and parsley to taste.

Mix with mayonnaise or boiled dressing and serve on lettuce with a sweet pickle on each plate.

For fish croquets use canned fish or remnants of boiled or fried fish. Mince fine, season, add a little melted butter tablespoon of flour stirred in a little milk; form into croquets and fry in very hot fat and serve with parsley.

HASHED BROWN POTATOES WITH COTTAGE CHEESE.

Chop cold boiled potatoes fine and season them well with salt, pepper, and onion juice. Mix with them enough milk to help them brown when turned upon a hot frying pan lightly greased with savory fat, and cook the potatoes slowly without stirring till they are browned next the pan.

Meanwhile soften a generous amount of cottage cheese with cream or milk till it will spread easily. Mix with it any desired seasoning such as chopped parsley or pimientos, a little left over ham or bacon, chili sauce or piccalilli, and spread it over the potatoes. Let the mixture stand long enough to warm up the cheese and soften it; then fold over the potatoes, like an omelet, turn it upon a hot platter, and serve at once.

Many persons enjoy the slight acid flavor of the cheese with this dish. If desired, however, the acid of the cheese may be neutralized by adding ¼ teaspoon or more of soda for each cup of cheese.

TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN

By Mrs. John Henry Hammond

The other day I was reciting to my little five-year-old son the old nursery rhyme:

"Here am I, little Jumping Joan. When nobody's with me, I'm always alone."

"What does that mean?" asked the child.

"Why, when nobody's with you, aren't you always alone?" I questioned.

"No," he replied, "because God is always with me."

How shall we measure the significance of this early realization of our Father's presence everywhere? For with the knowledge that God is present to help at all times, our children lose the sense of fear—and there is no greater lesson that we can impart to them. From earliest infancy we can begin to awaken in our children the sense of the all-presence of God.

Froebel, in his "Mother Play," a series of songs and games which he devised as illustrative of how a mother should play with her children, always seeks to make her look from the things which are seen and temporal to the things which are unseen and eternal; the father is to manifest so much patience and love towards his little ones as to make the transition of idea from the earthly to the heavenly Father simple and natural. The child is to be trained to look upon himself as a necessary and responsible part of a great whole, and to be taught that the whole can only be as strong as the weakest link. This is the basic thought of all true community consciousness. And from his earliest infancy he is to be taught to show gratitude to all who aid in ministering to his needs.

Suggestions by mothers who have been kindergartners. Issued by the United States Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., and the National Kindergarten Association, 3 West Fortieth Street, New York.

In these days, when so much is written about sense testimony, and so much is done to meet the physical and mental needs of our children both in the home and at school, there is a tendency to forget the teachings of Froebel and to give our children only a partial education, an education which stops short of their spiritual needs.

A momentous question, and one which all parents must answer individually is "Do we want our children to be merely healthy little animals with a certain amount of superficial learning, or do we wish to develop their deeper natures so that one day they may be able to take their place in the world, and through their spiritual insight into things, become powers for good in the community?"

For parents cannot turn over their own responsibilities to the teachers and expect them to lay the foundations of character. The home is the place where this must be done and it is for us to prove to our children that it is only as we are good ourselves that we help those around us. Then, imitation being one of the earliest and strongest instincts of childhood, our little ones, taking knowledge of us, begin practicing in their own lives what they see in ours. And living in an atmosphere of love and harmony, they come early to understand that love is the greatest power in the world.

clipped at both ends. Also they may be cut—not snapped—into small pieces. They may be slit lengthwise, too, before cutting across.

Blanch string beans six to ten minutes, according to size. Cold dip, drain and remove surface moisture by gently pressing between clean towels. Spread thinly on trays, first putting down paper or thin muslin. Beans may be dried in three hours, but frequently unless the air is exceptionally dry a longer time is required. Start at 110 degrees F., if applying artificial heat, and raise gradually to 145 degrees F.

DRYING SWEET CORN.

Corn is one of the easiest vegetables to dry. Select young, tender corn, freshly gathered. Remove husks and silk and blanch on the cob eight minutes—five minutes for very small and ten for very large ears. This blanching sets the milk. A teaspoonful of salt to a gallon of water somewhat improves the flavor. Cold dip, drain, and with a sharp knife cut off kernels. Take care not to cut chax with corn. The bit of corn left on cob after cutting may be scraped off with blunt edge of knife, so that none may be wasted.

Sun-dried corn is considered delicious, very likely because it is not over-heated in drying, but corn dried by artificial heat is excellent. Spread on trays in thin layer over a single thickness of paper or thin muslin. Start at 110 degrees F. and raise gradually to 145 degrees F. It may be dried in four hours.

In using field corn it should be taken at the roasting-ear period of ripeness. The ears should be plump.

To prepare for sun drying, corn may be heated in the oven for ten to fifteen minutes, then put in the sun. After the sun drying is complete, the corn should be heated to 145 degrees F. to kill possible insect eggs. A dozen good-sized ears will yield about a pound of corn.

DRYING PEAS.

Of all our common garden vegetables, there is none more popular for winter and summer use than peas. Also they are of much nutritive value and may be counted upon, when stored for the future, to supplement the meat supply. They may be dried readily and inexpensively.

Garden peas, which have a non-edible pod, should be shelled, and without washing first, blanched three to five minutes according to size and maturity. Full grown peas are prime for drying. After blanching cold dip, drain and remove surface moisture by gently pressing between clean towels. Spread in single layers on trays or boards with thin muslin or paper underneath. Drying time is between three and four hours. Peas require care in drying. Start at 110 degrees F. and raise temperature slowly, in about one and one-half hours to 145 degrees F. Avoid over-heating.

For use in soups or puree, shell mature peas, pass them through a meat grinder and spread the pulp on platters or trays to dry.

With young, tender sugar peas, use the pod also. After washing, cut into one-quarter inch pieces. Blanch six minutes, cold dip to remove surface moisture. Dry as mentioned above.

DRYING IRISH POTATOES

When the white potato became a common article of food in Ireland, scurvy, which had become a national curse, began to disappear. The potato wrought the cure. The Irish potato is now striving to do its utmost to be a wheat-saver. Millions of people "with war gardens have limited storage space, a not inconsiderable number returning to city apartments for the winter. Many of these are growing potatoes. Dry them, commandeer a year's supply, and what is beyond your needs, sell or give away! Not one potato should be wasted.

A Choice of Methods is Offered.

1. Wash and cook in water or steam until nearly done. Peel and put through a meat grinder or potato ricer. Collect the shreds on trays and dry until brittle.

2. Boil of steam until nearly done. Peel, cut into one-quarter-inch slices and dry until brittle.

DRYING SWEET POTATOES

Prepare in the same way as Irish potatoes. If slices are to be dried a cold dip just before drying will brighten the color. Before slicing cook well washed, sound potatoes until nearly done, then peel them. Dry until brittle. Also, after cooking, they may be peeled and put through the meat-grinder and the shreds dried until brittle.

The National War Garden Commission, Washington will answer any and all questions relative to drying garden products. Enclose a 2 cent stamp to pay for postage.

Attractive and Useful Bags

A very useful bag is that made of two long pieces of flowered ribbon. These are held together by a fagoting in the color of the ribbon and at one end the ribbon is gathered to an oblong piece of cardboard. On this cardboard are three little straps for scissors, thimble and emery. The other end is finished in the same way with the exception that there is a little pocket made on the inside to hold various necessities for needlework. The bag may be hung on the arm by two pieces of ribbon suspended from the cardboard tops of the bag.

"The Third Degree."

Word of Ruroede's arrest had been flashed across to the Department headquarters a few seconds after it had been made. As soon as it was received a quartette of investigators hurried to the Customs dock, where, a revenue cutter was waiting. Steam was up and she slipped out into the stream.

The Bergensfjord was late in sailing and catching her was the matter of a full speed run of about an hour. She heaved to at the cutter's command at about half past four o'clock. Together with customs inspectors, the investigators boarded her.

A startled queue of men passengers lined up on the steamer's main deck in response to the captain's order.

Four gentlemen who professed to answer to the names of Wilson, Martin, Wright and Hansen were escorted to the ship's ladder and crestfallenly clambered down on to the deck of the revenue cutter. On Captain von Papen's reserve officer list these same gentlemen answered to the names of Muller, Wegener, Sasche and Meyer.

Unlike Captain von Knorr, these four Germans recognized the official aspect of the Department's offices as they hurried through the corridors. They did not know, however, that within one of these offices the fellow-Hun who had handed them the fraudulent passports was experiencing some of the most unpleasant moments of his life.

For the Federal Government officials were putting Herr Karl Ruroede through an ordeal of examination that every now and then caused beads of perspiration to pour from the top of his bald head. But their questions rebounded from Ruroede like a rubber ball. Every known trick and artifice of examination used to induce the spy to confess was in vain against his insistent protestations of absolute innocence—and he knew that his examiners knew of his guilty complicity.

excepting the Service. Shortly before eleven o'clock that night a particularly ancient one was worked on Ruroede.

The far end of the room in which he was being examined had two doors, and was illuminated dimly.

One of his questioners paused for a moment, turned and looked inquiringly at the far end of the room.

At that moment one of the doors opened. A young boy accompanied by an investigator walked in and out through the other door.

Ruroede groaned in dismay at the sight.

"My God!" he exclaimed, "have they got my son, too. He knows nothing about this."

And this man who had sneered at Wedell's loss of nerve now lost his.

Thereafter it was easy to obtain answers to all questions relating to his activities save those that implicated Captain von Papen. It is to Ruroede's credit, if one can give a Hun credit for anything these days, that while he admitted meeting with the attaché and receiving money from him frequently, he did not furnish any evidence which could be used against von Papen in connection with the passport frauds.

Then it was that Ruroede became fully aware of how Aucher had tricked him.

"He succeeded wonderfully in impressing upon my mind that he was a gang man, and I had visions of slung shots, pistol shots and hold ups when I first saw him," said he with the first resemblance of a smile for many minutes.

"I lied to him about von Wedell, though," he added. "Von Wedell did not go to Spain. He came back here from Cuba only a little while ago and got away on the Bergensfjord."

Next—The Snobbish Von Papen.

While Ruroede was being taken away to be sentenced later to three years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, Georgia, a wireless was sent out crashing across seas to hunt down von Wedell on the Bergensfjord. It has already been told how a British cruiser seized him on the steamer in the North Atlantic and how the original passport fraud spy went down with cruiser when she was torpedoed by a Hun submarine.

Thus was the passport fraud machinery dismantled.

The long arm of the department was to fall heavily on its arch-plotter—Captain von Papen—in due time.

Microscope examination of the lists of reserve officers and other important documents in Ruroede's office revealed that these and the memoranda so naively turned over by Captain von Knorr were written by the same typewriter.

Again the Department threw out its net for another haul.

ADVERTISING: A Public Necessity

WHEN goods are scarce and prices high, people are more appreciative than ever of the right kind of advertising.

They are seeking information. They want to know how to buy to the best advantage.

They want to know how to fill their needs and avoid waste. They welcome news of desirable substitutes for the things the country needs to conserve.

They read the newspapers carefully.

The merchant or manufacturer who does not advertise is not only missing the purely selfish opportunity, but he is failing in the service he owes to his customers.

Coming of The Sunbeam

How to Avoid Those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered.

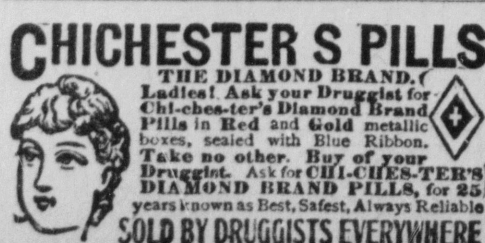

Too much cannot be said for a wonderful preparation, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend.

It is more effective in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon the cords, tendons and muscles of the abdomen, rendering them pliant, and they expand gracefully without that peculiar wrenching strain.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded joyful anticipation and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generations to come.

The pain at the crisis is infinitely less when Mother's Friend is used during the period of expectancy for the muscles expand easier and with less strain when baby is born.

Mother's Friend is for external use only, is entirely safe and may be had of your druggist. It is prepared by the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them to mail you their interesting "Mother's Book." They will send it at once, without charge, and you will find it very helpful. Do not neglect for a single night and morning to apply Mother's Friend according to directions around the bottle, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

LOCAL CHEMIST ASSIGNED TO IMPORTANT POSITION

Promotion for Lieutenant M. E. Jennings as Divisional Gas Officer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jennings, North Walnut street, have been notified that their son, Maurice E. Jennings, has been promoted to a second lieutenant, and promoted to the Engineers' National Army as Divisional Gas Officer. He enlisted last December as a private and rose rapidly to the position of first grade sergeant. He is the first man in his regiment to receive a commission without first completing a course in an officers' training camp.

The new work which will be undertaken by Lieutenant Jennings is very important. He will have charge of the organization of defense against German gas for about 45,000 men. During battle he will take samples of the gas used by the Huns and will test it to determine if new horrors have been added to it. In case new ingredients are discovered methods of counteracting it will be prescribed as soon as possible. The many friends of Lieutenant Jennings will be pleased to know that he is making such a splendid record in the service and to learn of his last promotion. In civil life he was chief chemist for the Central Pharmaceutical Company in this city.

JAMES W. TEBBS DEAD

Father of Mrs. Lester Connerly, of This City.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Connerly and children have returned from Harrison, O., where they were called on account of the death of Mrs. Connerly's father, James W. Tebbs. Mr. Tebbs was sixty-seven years of age and formerly lived at Lawrenceburg. He visited his daughter here several times and had many warm friends in this city.

Mr. Tebbs was at one time private secretary to the late Daniel Vorhees. He had been in failing health for four months, but his condition was not serious until a week before his death. The funeral was conducted Wednesday. He leaves a widow, five sons and four daughters.

APPEAL IS MADE TO THE WESTERN UNION EMPLOYEES

Independence Day Message Sent to all Operators by Newcomb Carlton, the President.

An appeal to all the employees of the Western Union Telegraph Company was transmitted Thursday from Newcomb Carlton, president of the corporation. Local employees of the company received the message which is as follows:

"In order that employees may have a full understanding of present conditions it seems proper for me to say that on the eve of the formation of a Western Union Employees' Association, the government is considering taking over the telegraph lines, because of the threat of an outside organization without membership in our forces. No one would pay any attention to such a threat were not the nation at war. It is, therefore, pertinent to call attention to the government's point of view on outside unions as expressed by Postmaster General Burleson before the house committee on Tuesday last as follows: 'I have never opposed the government employees organizing, but if the telegraph and telephone lines are taken over the employees should not be affiliated with any outside organization. The sole affiliation should be with the government and no outside organization should be allowed to influence their action.'

"From the foregoing it would appear that the policy of the company is precisely that of the postmaster general. When your association is formed, it is proposed that the company make an exclusive contract with it under which the company will deal with the association in matters relating to wages, conditions of employment, sickness benefits, pensions, life insurance and any other matters affecting the interests of employees. Meanwhile you may be urged to do something foolish by self-seeking individuals who hope to improve their own positions and such an individual representing a small union of about 2,500 members, largely Canadian, proposes on his own authority to call you—loyal men and women of the Western Union—from your work in order to defeat the associations which you are about to form. I am confident you will answer this attempt by an additional demonstration of your loyalty to your government by continuing at your post of duty without fear of criticism by right minded people."

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCoun and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weddle were here yesterday enroute to their home at Medora after visiting at Indianapolis for several days.

James Blair, who has been very sick for several months, is still confined to bed at his home on North Lynn street.

Miss Alice Luckey of Redding township, attended the celebration at the Shields Park yesterday.
